Which Moderate concern

Warnings exist only at Moderate. Minor concerns are corrected in the moment and counted toward nothing.

- ☐ Repeated minor issues raised to Moderate ☐ Disrespect toward adults or peers
☐ Disruption that interferes with instruction ☐ Failure to comply after correction
☐ Persistent refusal to take part in instruction ☐ Work not done — two class sessions in a row

What happened

A short note naming what happened and when is enough. This is what makes a third concern uncontroversial rather than a fight.

If raised from repeated minor concerns — what the pattern was based on

Noted by the teacher at the time, not reconstructed later.

Before the warning is issued — leadership check

- ☐ Current warning count for the year confirmed ☐ Checked for an unmet support or accommodation need

A check, not a veto.

Which warning is this

- ☐ First this school year ☐ Second this school year ☐ Third — begins the Reconciliation Process

A third Moderate concern does not produce a warning. It begins the Reconciliation Process: pause, meeting, ownership, repair, a signed re-entry plan, and a four-day review period. Completing it clears the count to zero.

Warnings count across all classes, not per teacher, and reset each school year. Anyone who was the teacher in the incident, is a party to it, or is a relative of the student steps out of the decision. A family who disagrees may ask leadership to review it, and leadership answers in writing.
