Supply List

What to bring on the first day

“It is the glory of God to conceal a matter, but the glory of kings is to search it out.”

PROVERBS 25:2

Version 1.0

Short on purpose. If it isn't on this list, you don't need to buy it.

Every student, every age

- A Bible — any translation
- One notebook
- Pens and pencils
- A folder or thin binder for papers coming home
- A bag to keep it all in
- A water bottle
- A snack
- Lunch — from the second Tuesday on. The first day is on us.

Put a name on everything.

Middle School and High School — one more thing

Access to a computer, laptop, Chromebook or tablet at home.

Not for co-op day — for the work in between. Assignments are posted in Google Classroom, and some are typed or turned in online.

A shared family computer is fine. It doesn't need to belong to the student.

If a device at home is a problem, tell us. We'd rather solve it quietly than have a student fall behind over hardware.
